

The Knueppel Brothers with America's heroes, men of the New York Police Department.

New York City
Hoop-It-Up
Champions !

The Flying Knueppel Brothers Basketball Club members – Kole, Klay, Klint, Kellye, and Kon Knueppel – in Times Square.

Photos from the semi-final game.

Notice that there was a very minimal size advantage at each position. The Knueppels took an 8-1 lead in this game, and won fairly convincingly with a 16-10 final score.

Kon knocking one down against the 7-footer. After FKB took the 8-1 lead, the opponents took the 7-footer out because it was a mismatch.

Wall Street

Photos from the championship.

Kole showing great passing form.

FKB running one of its favorite plays – “White”.

Klay stroking one in from a few feet behind the arc. FKB shot 48% from behind the 2-point line over the weekend.

FKB and the Brooklyn Bridge

FKB and the Statue of Liberty

FKB and Lower Manhattan

The Flying Knueppel Brothers on Wall Street just after their Championship victory in the New York City Hoop-It-Up tournament.

Two of our gracious hosts from our stay in New York City, John and Sarah. Along with their roommates Scott and Joel, they let us stay with them in their apartment in Brooklyn. Thanks gang, it was a great weekend!

